

I am quite concerned for the future of quality broadcasting in this country. As more and more "mega" media outlets are created the incentive to create new content rather than to duplicate the successes of others is minimized.

For the sake of children's TV alone, please reject the possibility of any more media consolidation.